Expect to Have Stores Close Thursday Afternoon for Chautauque Parade—Deaths of Mr. and Mrs. Francis T. Brightman to be Investigated—Fined for Having Short Lobsters.

The small boy in Dixon square play of the joke of his great-grandfather on the modern automobile operator Monday morning. A large touring car came along and the boy pointed at the rear wheel and shouted, "Mister! Mister!" The operator leaned out of the car and looked for a flat tire. The boy ran along with the car and persistently exclaimed, "Mister! Mister!" until the car stopped and the chauffeur inquired, "What's the matter?" To this the boy replied, "Say, mister your wheel is not turning now!" and accompanied up the car. The chauffeur then in the car, presumably the owner, called the traffic officer and handed him a dollar to give to "that little son of a bitch!"

The annual meeting of the Watch Hill Fire district was called to order in the firehouse Monday morning by the chairman, Samuel H. Davis, at which time several matters pertaining to the welfare of the district were discussed. It was voted to send a set of resolutions to the state legislature at its next assembly, recommending that the collection of automobile taxes without the expenditure of money on the highways of the state.

The annual report submitted by the treasurer, Howard E. Burdick, showed a total receipt of $9,895.68, and an expenditure of $8,842.65, leaving a balance of $1,053.03.

Officers for the following year were elected: Samuel H. Davis, chairman; George N. Burdick, clerk; Horace E. Burdick, treasurer; and collector, Palmer Chapman, assessor. Dudley Phelps, chairman of the Park commission. Stephen W. Collins will succeed Charles E. Thomas on the board of engineers, and Frank Larkin will succeed Samuel H. Davis as a member of the auditing committee.

While working at his trade as a moulder in the foundry of the press works of the C. B. Cottrell and Sons Company, Monday morning, James McCormack was struck on the head by a falling piece of chain. The blow, although not of a serious nature, knocked McCormack down and in falling he struck his shoulder on the corner of a box, causing a severe wrench to his spine and sprain of his neck. He was removed to his home on Moss street where he was treated by Dr. John L. May. McCormack is suffering from the blow on the shoulder more than from the blow on the head, according to a statement from the doctor, and it will be several weeks before the extent of his injuries will be known.

ITALY'S RICHEST TREASURES IN NORTHERN CITIES

Are in Danger of Destruction As the Result of the War.

(Special to The Bulletin.)

Washington, July 12.—Where romance, industry, beauty and aquator, the greatest in art and veriest quackery run riotous patterns have gathered and broken over Northern Italy, is again in danger of war's ruthless destruction. Some of Italy's richest treasures, the art treasures, are contained in her northern cities, and here, too, lies the weight of industrial, commercial and political Italy. An intimate description of these provinces abutting upon the latest battle-frontier has been prepared for the National Geographic society by Florence Craig Albright, whose understanding of Italy is that of a long-time, sympathetic friend.

She writes:

"The fatal gift of beauty, which is Italy's dowry, is that of each of her children, as their history is hers. The unified Italy, whose generation has known no other than us, the peninsula bounded, roughly speaking, by the Alps, the Mediterranean, the Adriatic and the Tyrrhenian seas, has been occupied from the dawn of history to our own time by countless rival states, each in turn a conqueror and conqueror."

she does not appreciate her past. This, however, is not so. She has been literally tripped into the dust so often she would have nothing but scars to show but for the invincible courage which made her instantly build on her ruins the foundations of yet greater things.

And Milan, the last restoration, the monumental modern city of business, has again been brought upon the battle front, and the struggle for Milan, is again between the Teuton and the Latin.

Italy's Other Big War.

Few people realize that Italy is the youngest of the great Powers of the world, though, of course, she has probably an older authentic history than any of the nations now fighting, for Italy is where the old Roman empire began.

But Italy as a nation and as we know it now did not come into existence till the middle of the last century. Before that time our Italy was a collection of little States, all having their own government, fighting their own wars and generally disconnected instead of being united.

United Italy dates from the time of the famous Garibaldi, who, in the late fifteenth and early sixteenth centuries, reaching once far beyond Nice, at present not quite touching Italy, as it is now, to the east of it. In the Central Alps the southern slopes belong to Italy, although the district of the Great St. Bernard lies in Switzerland; but the Eastern Alps, to the south as well as north, are Austrian.

Since then she has never fought in any really big war, though she fought Abyssinia in 1896, and Turkey in 1911.

A Crucial Test.
